St. James's, November 22.

THE following Addreſs was preſented to his Majeſty by his Grace the Duke of Montroſe, one of his Majeſty's Principal Secretaries of State.

To the KING's moſt Excellent Majeſty.

The humble Addreſs of the Royal Burrows of Scotland.

WE your Majeſty's moſt faithful Subjects have impatiently waited this Opportunity of being brought together in a full Convention, that we might jointly and with one Heart congratulate your Majeſty's happy and peaceful Acceſſion to the Throne of Great Britain, and ſeaſonable Arrival therein.

When we reflect upon the Royal Bounty and Favour of the great and glorious King William and Queen Anne of ever bleſſed Memory to the State of Burrows, and the particular Marks of their Affection which they beſtowed upon us, whereby their Majeſties did fully evidence their Confidence in our faithfulneſs to their Intereſts; and that the Crown is now ſo happily ſettled upon your Sacred Majeſty by an unqueſtionable Right and Lawful Succeſſion to your Royal Progenitors, we muſt adore and bleſs the Divine Goodneſs which has ſo conſpicuouſly ſhined in all this great and remarkable Conjuncture of Providence.

We have now the glorious Proſpect, that by your Majeſty's Adminiſtration, our Religion, Laws and Liberties, and our Preſbyterian Church Government, as by Law eſtabliſh'd, ſhall be inviolably maintained, our Trade encouraged, and freed from the Embarraſments it lies under by deſtructive Treaties of Commerce; and that all the other Bleſſings which conduce to the Happineſs of Mankind, ſhall flow upon us and our Fellow Subjects. So that we think our ſelves bound by the ſtricteſt Tyes of Duty, to abide firm and loyal to your Majeſty; and as we have Acceſs in our Stations to inſtil the ſame Principles of Loyalty and Obedience in the ſeveral Incorporations which we repreſent:

It remains for us to offer up to the Almighty God our hearty Praiſes for the great Deliverances he has wrought for us from thoſe Fears and Apprehenſions of Danger we were under, as likewiſe with the utmoſt Sincerity pray, That it may pleaſe the Divine Goodneſs to pour down his beſt Bleſſings upon your Majeſty and your Royal Progeny; and that after a long and happy Reign over us, the Crown of this Realm may deſcend to your Royal Poſterity in a long and uninterrupted Succeſſion, and may continue to be the great Guardians of the Proteſtant Religion throughout all Europe.

May it pleaſe your Majeſty, your Majeſty's moſt loyal, moſt dutiful and obedient Subjects and Servants.

The Convention of the Royal Burrows met at Edenburgh the 9th of November 1714. Signed at our Appointment, and in our Preſence by George Warrender of Lochend, Lord Provoſt of Edenburgh, our Preſes.

To which his Majeſty was pleaſed to make the following moſt gracious Anſwer.

The Advices from Catalonia continue to relate that all is quiet there, they tell us likewiſe, that two Perſons having been hanged at Manreſa, for not delivering up their Arms, but concealing them in Diſobedience to the Proclamation iſſued on that Subject, the People taking warning by their Example, had without further Delay brought in all their Arms, to which they were beſides induced by the Diſtribution of the French and Spaniſh Troops into Quarters all over the Country to keep turbulent Spirits in Awe.
